490 Discussed security aspect of putting [] on line with the []
[] on 20 April. Since [] [] building the electronics, it will be impossible to keep the computer utilization and type [] Although we would not have to tell the [] people the exact computer, they could determine it from the information on codes and etc. that we would have to furnish them. This raises the question of how much of the on line detail we can discuss with them without breaking security.
